The Democrats are of the opinion that the chances are favorable to the election of a Democrat to succeed Gaines. Edwards has been defeated for the nomination, and the fact will be made public in the convention to be held at Hinton to-morrow, when Gaines will be renominated. Gaines is one of the finest men on: the Républican side, and is popular with the opposing party in the district, but the Democrats of the Third West Virginia think a Republican has represented the district long enough. Unless Edwards, who is an erratic man, of much wealth and some brains, accepts the decision of the convention and comes down, the next representative from the district will be a Democrat. Edwards, says he has not been fairly treated, and charges that Democrats have been allowed to take part in the conventions which selected delegates to the nominating convention at Hinton. The report was circulated throughout the district that Mr. Edwards was at Harvard with Mr. Roosevelt, But when the attention of the President was called to the matter he Aromytly denied the truth of the report.

Weeping and then crying over the youngsier, his parents declared they were wholly satisfied with the outcome of the mysterious affair, and did not care to have the case pushed any further. Notwithstanding their declarations, they were compelled to go with the boy to the police station. Salvatore Mannino was taken along as a prisoner and locked up on the charge of abduction.

At the police station young Mannino identified Angelo Cucozza, the boy who was first arrested in the case, as the one who took him to Mannattan, after giving him money. Cucozza, when he heard the lad accuse him, sprang for the child, and Mannino. shrieked in terror. Cucozza was selzed by policemen and returned to his cell, while young Mannino was allowed to go with his parents.

Young Mannino was taken to the police court later in the day, where the other prisoners were arraigned, but the lad failed to identify any of the others.

Salvatore Mannino was arraigned on the charge of kidnapping, and was held in $1,000 ball. Ball in the cases of the others, who have now been under arrest several days, was placed at $5,000.

Story of the Lad.

Young Mannino was subjected to a sharp examination by an assistant district attorney. He said:

"Cucozza took me away. We crossed the South Ferry and a fat man met us. We walked ten blocks and then took a street car and rode a long distance. Then we got off and they took me to a big white building and went up sairs to the top floor. Here Cucozza left us. A short, stout woman opened the door. There were two men there, the fat man who met us and a thin man. I slept in a bed with the fat man. There was a three-year-old child there they called Julie. I played with him. I looked out of the windows and all of the houses looked white. When the third man went out he would come back not hely would all go into a room and talk. I could not tell what they were saying. The fat man, who never went out, but stayed with me all the time, was very dark. He wore black clothing, a black sult, black tie and a black soft hat. The

When the boy's statement was finished Mr. Mannino, his father, who had been listening intently, stood up and said:

JOURNEYMAN PLUMBERS MAY CHANGE CONSTITUTION

(By Associated Press.)
BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Magust 19.—The annual convention of the United Assoclation of Journeymen Plumbers and Allied Trades of the United States and Canada, is still considering constitu-Uonal changes. Among the changes proposed, but which has not been decided yet, is a proposition to abolish annual or blennial meetings of the association, and transact all business by a referendum Advocates of this plan, declare it would secure a broader expression of opinion, and save much expense.

Toronto, still leads in the race for the next convention, provided that conventions be not abolished. It is expected that the office of southern organizer will be created by the convention.

o a special from Statesboro to-day, the ported. The chief Interest now centers about the attitude of the Statesboro milltary company, regarding its part in the work of last Tuesday. Lleutenant Come, who was in charge of the local company, is quoted as saying that he no longer wants to be a "tin soldler." He is reported to have said that, with his company of forty men he could have protected the two negroes from the mob. As it passed by the guard tent fifty soldlers were on duty there, who, had the order been given, could easily have taken the prisoners and held them against the mob.

Captain Hitch in his official, report charges that sheriff and his deputies betrayed all his and his deputies betrayed all his deputies betrayed all his cities to the mob. Sheriff Kendrick has entered a most emphaled departed by the control of every charge, and in effect. drick has entered a most emphatic de-nial of every charge, and in effect, charges the milliary with neglect of duty. The matter will rest until the return of Governor Terrell from St. Louis. He is expected here on Monday, and it is cer-tain from directions that he is said to have given to his official cabinet here, that a most searching investigation will be ordered.

NONE TO START UP.

Compact Between Manufacturers That Will Prevent This.

(By Associated Press.) was learned to-day that the agreement made by the cotton manufacturers of the city, where they decided to make a 1252 per cent. cut in wages in July, provided for a heavy forfeit in case of violation of per cent. cut in wages in July, provided for a heavy forfeit in case of violation of the compact to shut down if the operatives refused to accept the reduction. This fact, it is said, disposes of rumors which are persistently heard that certain mills are preparing to start. Under the agreement, it appears, any member of the association who shall start his mill without the consent of all the others must pay a large sum to the association as long as he shall continue to operate his plant without consent. It is said authoritatively that no mill now stopped will attempt to resume, at least until after Labor Day.

WINONA, MINN., August 19.—At to-day's session of the Evangelistical Lutheran Synodical Conference of North America, a report, presented by Rev. B, Kretschmar, of St. Louis, on mission work among the negroes of the South, showed that much good was being accomplished. There are twenty four mission stations in Louisiane, North Carolina, Virginia and Illinois, and all show evidence of growth. Two preparatory schools have been established, one at Concord, N. C., and the other at New Orleans, La., to train colored young people for mission work among their own race, For several years an unknown man has called on the conference treasurer. Professor A. C. Burgdorf, at St. Louis, and contributed $600 toward this mission work, making only the simple statement that it was a thank offerins.
